Its first attack on the famous scandal in connection with the leagues of the Argentine and the millionaires of the province of Santa Fe, decided to pay for them. have led to the execution of the contract and the bursting of the attempt to negotiate the ten million Bond in London. Public opinion is now reserving itself, even in Santa Fe.

A number of respectable gentlemen who have invested their hard earned savings in stocks sell stemmons, and for a long time have been waiting for the day when the emigrants at up river ports for account of the National Government, will now have to turn their energies into another channel.

The Chief Commissioner of Immigration intends to have immigrated for the first time, and the immigrants are not so precious few and far between that the cost of getting them on shore is very much greater than it used to be when "the crutch

The U. S. Sprinter Baltimore will not come up here. She sails at Montevideo and then goes round to Valparaiso. A slight hole in that popular ballad "Carrie No. 1" was referred to yesterday by a morning contemporary. It appears that the majority of the small subscribers have no money in hand, and can only pay by the month—as they do the butcher and baker—the amount they subscribed to the paper in a moment of "expansion patriotism." In view of this dilemma it is hoped that the Caja de Conversion will rise to the exigencies of the situation and act accordingly.

The Americano del Sud will begin to supply its low-priced meat to the markets next month. It has arranged with the St. Francis de Paul and other beneficent relations to give good pieces of "puñero" every day to all deserving poor recommended by the Societies in question. The Societies' kitchens will also be started to supply the poorer classes with an ample amount of broth and, "puñero" at five cents. This new enterprise should elicit the hearty good wishes and support of the public, and it will be called on to do a deal of good work during the coming winter.

A very funny case occurred at La Platte the other day. A fellow was arrested by Neocoches for being a vagabond, without any visible means of support, and was taken to the Police Station. When the Judge asked him what he had to say for his defence, he said: "I don't know, Your Honor," and he said that he had not the resources to do so, and that his age was, but would call himself thirty, if his Worship had no objection. He had lived for ten years in the Neocoches, without doing an honest day's all that time; he lived on gin and 'pucher' obtained from his neighbors' generosity or by the use of his wits. On the Judge continuing to question him he began chaff his worship about wasting so much ink and paper in taking down his answers and he was at once sent back to the lock up.

Uncle Samuel's big show at Chicago 1893 seems to be anything but a dead certainty. The money has been the stuff of all the speculators' dreams and now it

York correspondent telegraphs: "Chicago is in a quandary over the Great World Fair. The Finance Committee of World's Fair report that this Exposition will cost $15,000,000, and the probable receipts are estimated at $10,000,000. Looking at the prospects from the best possible point of view, only $10,000,000 will be available before 1893, and the directors do not know where to get the additional money that will be required to carry out the project."

templated. It is suggested that, in order to meet the financial difficulty, a bond on the gate receipts should be obtained for $5,000,000. No steps for the issue of a loan will, however, be taken until the state of the London market offers a favourable opportunity.

Mr. Editor,
The following sentence from the speech, I may say the dying words of

"As poison in the blood permeates the nerves, veins, arteries, brain and heart, so the gold standard will soon bring about a speedy but grizzly paralysis of death, so that a debased or fluctuating currency permeates all the arteries of trade, paralyze all the veins of business, and bring disaster to all the people. It is as impossible for the mercer to flourish with such an instrument as it is for the human body to grow strong and vigorous with a deadly poison in its blood."

He concluded by saying that "the
